

The Minimal Model Program (=MMP) aims to explain how algebraic varieties are composed out of simpler pieces. The talk gives a broad overview of the program and its applications. It surveys recent progress in our understanding of holomorphic differential forms on singular spaces, and explains the connection to the MMP. Applications pertaining to classification and characterisation of algebraic varieties will be mentioned in brief.