

Dear Colleagues,

We are happy to announce that the First European Practitioners Symposium on Equine Reproduction (ESER2018) will take place on February 8-9, 2018 in Gent, Belgium. I would like to invite you to visit the ESER webpage where you will find the preliminary programme and registration information.

Go to <http://www.ivis.org/eser> for more information.

In collaboration with the ISER-2018, we have been able to place 11 expert speakers from 8 countries on the programme. The programme has been designed to give equine practitioners a broad, in-depth, clinically relevant update on equine reproduction. All the speakers have practical, clinical experience, a strong background in veterinary practice and/or are active in clinical practice. The conference will be focussed on clinically relevant and practical aspects of our profession (see the programme).

Please note that if you register before Nov 15 you will benefit from a significant reduction in registration fees. Do not postpone your registration! Register today and take advantage of the discount rates.
