

Angela Nuovo is professor of History of books and communication at the University of Milan and Principal Investigator of the EMoBookTrade ERC project (<https://emobooktrade.unimi.it/>). She has been Visiting Fellow at All Souls College, University of Oxford, in 2012, and the recipient of an Ahmanson Research Fellowship at the University of California Los Angeles in 2014. In 2016 she has been Gastprofessur für Italienische Literatur und Kulturwissenschaft (Cattedra de Sanctis) at ETH (Eidgenössische Technische Hochschule Zurich). Among her recent publications: The Book Trade in the Italian Renaissance (Leiden-Boston: Brill, 2013; paperback edition 2015) and, with Giuseppe De Luca and Federico Piseri, La formazione del mercante: scuola, libri e cultura economica a Milano nel Rinascimento (Milano: Ed. Delfino, 2021).